About Me

The United Republic was founded in 2015, following an impressive 15+ year career with leading national and international advertising agencies, including Dentsu, JWT, Leo Burnett, and AKQA.

With over 25 years of experience in strategic brand development, communications, and marketing, James is a visionary leader whose expertise spans a wide range of industries, from FMCG, automotive, and fashion to financial services, travel, and government. His ability to translate complex research—both quantitative and qualitative—into meaningful, actionable insights has driven countless innovative and effective campaigns.

Working with the SA Government, the Department of Premier and Cabinet, Treasury, the Electoral Commission, and the Local Government Association, James has concentrated on developing and delivering integrated communication and engagement strategies across traditional media, digital platforms, PR, and community involvement. This includes serving as the spokesperson for the 2022 State Election, the 2022 Local Government Election, the SA Government Future Jobs Program, and the First Nations Voice to Parliament.

James's leadership has been proven across Australia, SE Asia, and Africa, where he has successfully managed teams of all sizes and overseen budgets exceeding $120M. Whether leading high-stakes projects like the 2022 SA State Election, Toyota's Lifetime of Advantages, or the 2024 SA Voice to Parliament Election, James consistently delivers results, showcasing his strategic brilliance and ability to manage diverse stakeholder groups.

From launching products for global giants like Ford, Hyundai, and Toyota to spearheading long-term consulting engagements with high-profile clients such as the Electoral Commission of South Australia and News Corp, James brings a relentless drive for innovation and success. His ability to see the bigger picture while ensuring precision in execution makes him an invaluable partner in any venture.

With a proven track record of delivering exceptional communication and marketing strategies, James is a trusted advisor who brings unparalleled value to every organisation he collaborates with.

"James is a strategic senior leader with a brilliant understanding of how a successful campaign needs to be pulled together and delivered for the very best outcomes.

He operates in an artful way that balances the need to consider data and insights, to deliver impactful creative outputs for his clients."

"James is an exceptionally hard worker, dedicated to achieving the best outcomes for his clients and their brands.

He collaborates seamlessly due to his personable nature and is also great fun to work with."

"James has the rare ability to bring strategic insights to life as creative strategy and develop creative vehicles that deliver, not just look good."

"James doesn't just solve the obvious problem, he looks at the business from all angles strategically and finds the correct tools to solve the real problems; He knows how to bring the right resources together and how to use them to get the best results for the business."

2022 South Australian State Election

State Election
Saturday 19 March

Electoral Commission
SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Background:

While voting is compulsory in South Australia, with 96% of eligible electors enrolled and typical participation rates above 90%, advertising plays a significant role in ensuring that these key indicators of democratic participation remain (and increase from these levels).

Specific audiences (youth, First Nations peoples, and culturally and linguistically diverse (CaLD) Australians) still have low enrolment and participation, mainly due to education gaps and less familiarity with voting. Political disengagement and distrust of government among some segments of society also contribute to declining participation.

These factors, coupled with sociocultural issues, including the rise of fake news and conspiracy theories and the public's reluctance to attend large gatherings due to fears of COVID-19 transmission, created a potential scenario with the risk of a significant drop in enrolment and participation rates.

To combat this worst-case scenario, The United Republic ensured all communications activities were supported by extensive qualitative and quantitative research.

This process identified key audiences where ECSA had the best opportunity to change behaviours and was imperative to ensuring that enrolment and participation did not slump.

Communications were developed that explicitly engaged the target audience and delivered messaging that resonated with their mindset to help reduce the barriers to enrolling and voting.

Budgets were realigned to target specific audiences through appropriate channels.

Toyota - A Life Time of Advantages

Background:

With the increasing number of competitors in the car market, Toyota's once unassailable market dominance and brand perception had slipped. It could no longer rely solely on its reputation for quality to drive sales, especially with other manufacturers, particularly Korean brands, offering increasingly comparable products. These competitors were no longer seen as compromise purchases.

As the factory and dealers were unwilling to compete on price, there was a need for a new brand positioning that could reset the benchmark and perception of quality for Toyota.

Nationwide consumer, corporate, and dealer qualitative and quantitative research was conducted to understand what Toyota currently stood for, how consumers perceived the brand, what the brand could stand for, and what it could deliver.

The key research finding was that value wasn't just in the purchase price but in the whole-of-life value—from purchase to servicing and resale. This insight led to the development of the "Lifetime of Advantages" brand positioning and communications strategy, which was rolled out company-wide across brand, retail, finance, service, and second-hand car sales.

Adelaide Hills Wine Region Communications Strategy

ADELAIDE HILLS
WINE REGION

Background

The Adelaide Hills Wine Region, while arguably Australian's best cool climate wine region has little understanding of who they were, who they were competing against and had no cohesive brand story or narrative.

Starting with an extensive qualitative and quantitative research program, targeting wine consumers, stakeholders, industry and government we defined:

- Who we are?
- What we are here for?
- What are we working towards?
- Our vision and what success looks like
- Why your audience should believe you
- How we talk about ourselves in a way that:
 - Unites Members
 - Attracts Visitors
 - Involves Government and Industry Bodies
 - Engages Sponsors

The research led to the development of the new Adelaide Hills Brand Positioning, Architecture and Communications Strategy for the AHWR that:

- Supports members
- Encourages engagement with the region with:
 - Consumers
 - Business partnerships Allied
 - industry Government
- Supports AHWR events

2022 Local Council Elections

Authorised by M. Sherry, Electoral Commission

Awareness Press Ad

Background:

Local Government Elections in SA unlike State and Federal Elections are not compulsory and participation rates hover at around 30% across the state, with some council districts at below 15%.

The 2022 elections had two specific communications challenges, each related to overall electoral participation, that present a significant risk to the success of the election process.

Participation is stagnant:

Overall participation rate in LG elections remains stagnant at 30%, with no change over the last three elections.

Voter fatigue:

The periodic council elections was the third major electoral event in South Australia in calendar 2022.

It was a significant challenge to combat voter fatigue and convince voters to participate following the two parliamentary elections and mitigate the risk of a collapse in participation in the 2022 council elections.

In addition, the different nature of how the election is conducted (postal vs in-person) presents a significant risk to participation rates.

Advertising activities undertaken in previous elections effectively only maintained the participation rate.

A significant state-wide decrease in participation was expected due to the factors stated above.

Objectives

- Through creative and media channels, drive awareness of the 2022 Council Elections with the SA voting public, including timings and responsibilities.
- Encourage Enrolment of businesses on the voters' roll
- Encourage eligible electors to complete and post back their ballot papers
- Provide a coordinated campaign across Enrolment, Nominations, and Vote with the LGA and Councils.
- Ensure delivery of an integrated campaign across all phases and media channels.
- Increase/Maintain participation rates.

2022 Local Council Elections

Electoral Commission
SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Live local. Vote local.
— 2022 COUNCIL ELECTIONS —

Voting closes at 5:00 pm
Thursday 10 November 2022

Your voting guide - City of Adelaide

COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Voting in council elections is voluntary, but the Electoral Commission of South Australia does keep records of who has voted and may contact you after the election to discuss your voting experience. ECSA may also contact you if you don't vote to learn why.

Council elections are held every four years and are conducted entirely by post.

BALLOT PACKS

Most voters will receive only one ballot pack (a full entitlement).

Voters who have more properties or entitlements for other wards may receive additional ward ballot packs (ward only entitlements).

Ballot packs are being mailed progressively from Friday 14 October to Thursday 20 October 2022 and voters at the same address may not receive their ballot pack on the same day.

THE CONTENTS OF YOUR BALLOT PACK

1. Council date pre-filled

2. Ballot paper #01

3. Ballot paper in envelope

4. Reply-paid envelope

For a full entitlement ballot pack you will receive 3 ballot papers:

- Lord Mayor
- area councillor
- ward councillor.

For a ward-only entitlement ballot pack you will receive only 1 ballot paper for the ward councillor.

If you are missing any item from your ballot pack, call the 2022 Council Elections hotline on 1300 655 232 for replacement material.

VOTING

You are entitled to vote in council elections if you are:

- voting in your own right as a natural person
- an authorised officer of a body corporate acting on behalf of that body corporate
- a member of a group of persons acting on behalf of that group and you are on the council voters roll as a resident, owner, or occupier of a rateable property.

You can only vote once in any election.

If you are an authorised officer of a body corporate or a member of a group who receives more than one full entitlement ballot pack:

- you may only complete and return one full entitlement ballot pack.
- additional full entitlement ballot packs should be completed by another authorised officer of the body corporate or member of the group.

If you receive multiple ward-only ballot packs, you may complete these ensuring you personally vote only once in each ward election.

Concerns regarding eligibility on multiple entitlements should be directed to:

2024 First Nations Voice to SA Parliament

Awareness Poster

Background:

The South Australian First Nations Voice to Parliament, or SA First Nations Voice, is a state-level initiative led by the South Australian Government to provide a connected, direct and independent line of communication for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people living in South Australia to the South Australian Parliament and the Government.

The SA First Nations Voice will be made up of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, elected by the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people of South Australia.

They will represent their communities and provide advice on laws, policies, and programs through direct communication with key decision-makers.

The SA First Nations Voice will enable more informed and inclusive decision-making about the issues that matter most to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and their communities.

ECSA was tasked with delivering the 2024 First Nations Voice Election on 16 March 2024 across six regions, with 46 positions up for election.

The United Republic developed and delivered the 2024 First Nations Voice Election Communications strategy across Creative and Functional Advertising, Media Engagement, Community Engagement, PR, and Media, as well as project, budget management and campaign implementation across all media channels, including TV, Press, Outdoor, Digital, Website, Social Media, and PR, creating and distributing over 500 community engagement kits and holding 400+ Community engagement sessions.

The Election was initially due to be held in September 2023 but the date was moved as not to clash with the 2023 Federal Voice Referendum.
